

What is happening at Menlo Park?

In the last few years, the Menlo Park historic site has been transformed from one of New Jersey's "10 Most Endangered Sites" into a site with an optimistic future.

The non-profit Edison Memorial Tower Corporation (EMTC) has taken the lead to improve the site. Major EMTC accomplishments include:

- The Museum now meets ADA requirements.
- Upgrades include new building systems & video monitoring surveillance - in and around the Museum and Tower site.
- Developed all new professional exhibits, hands-on displays, & visitors are offered personalized tours for groups and individuals.
- Retained professionals to investigate the Tower and raised funds for its restoration, which will be completed in 2014.
- Working to develop and interpret historic areas of the Edison State Park.
- Annual visitation exceeds 13,000
- Enhanced the Museum's gift shop, adding many new items and nearly quadrupling the sales.
